As a chain connects link to link, the spirit of '76 connects creating to celebrating to participating. All of these things are a part of the Spirit of '76, and they are inseparable because each quality depends on the others for its own completeness.

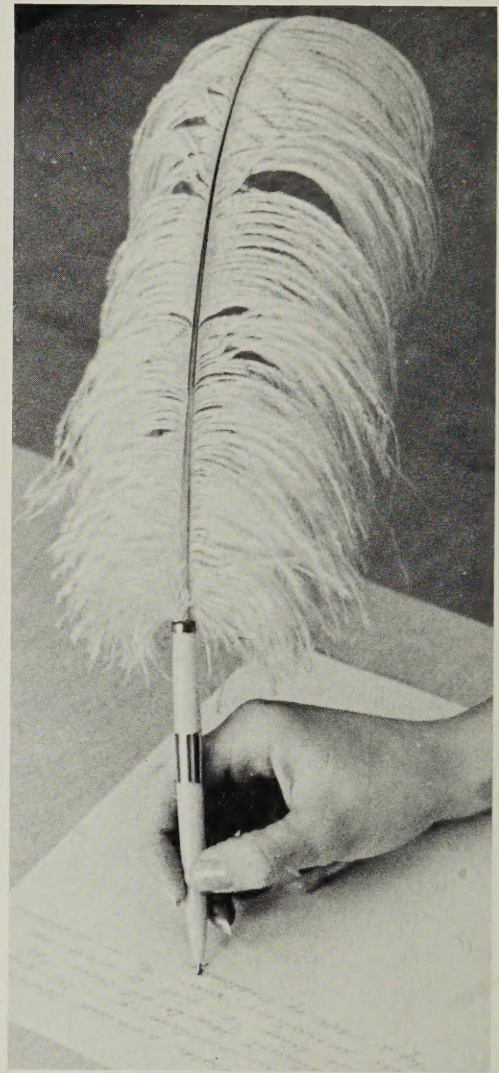

We are a chain; we are the links between the past and the future. Without us, there would be no past and there could be no future, but without each other there could be no "us". As a chain, each of us depends on the others for our own completeness.

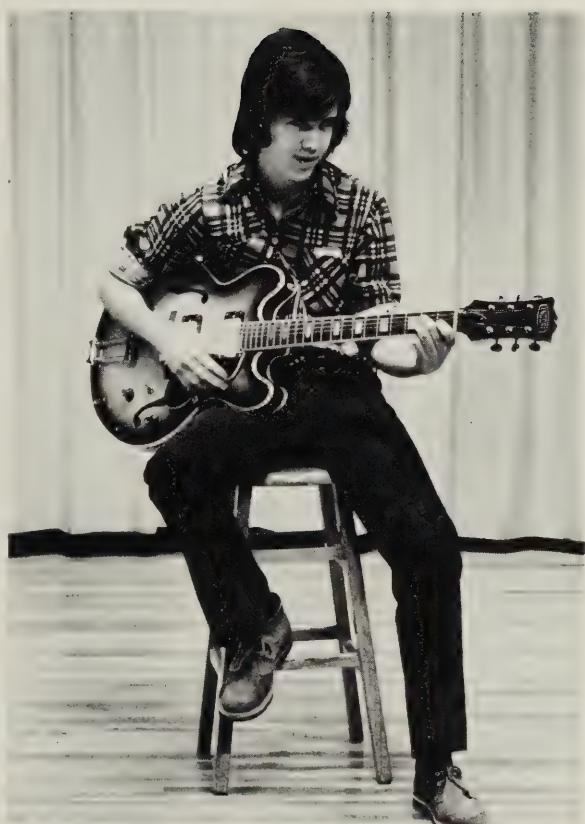

The essence of the Spirit of '76 is devotion to involvement. The 1976 Shield is dedicated to one who has always sought to be involved. Not only has he tried to provide his students with knowledge in the subject he teaches, but he has also helped them acquire knowledge of themselves. In appreciation of his unwavering concern, and because he has always been dedicated to us, the Class of '76 respectfully dedicates its Shield to Mr. Bob Wilburn.

CREATE

"What another would have done as well as you, do not do it. What another would have said as well, do not say it; written as well, do not write it. Be faithful to that which exists nowhere but in yourself and then make yourself indispensable." — Andre Gide

Another test. Another unexcused absence. Another misunderstanding. The frustrated student goes to art class, or to creative writing, or just to work on hall decorations, where he can be creative and momentarily forget the test, the unexcused absence, the misunderstanding. Then there are those who create simply to create; the artist who is more at home with his paint brush than he is in math class, the loud student who becomes quietly engaged in his writing. For such a student school becomes what it is supposed be: a place where he can be creative, a place where he can be himself.

CELEBRATE

For one to celebrate something is to recognize that he appreciates it. During this bicentennial year, perhaps it is worthwhile to realize what we are celebrating, what we appreciate. Among the things we appreciate is, of course, our freedom. We hear this so often that we usually fail to think about just what our freedom means. Freedom is found in simple things. Because we live in a country that allows us freedom we are able to enjoy the simple things. A birthday party at lunch, the enthusiasm before a football game, or just the pleasure of being zany — these are the things that allow us to momentarily break from the seriousness of life, to enjoy times with our friends, and to grow. This is freedom. We celebrate it; we appreciate it.

PARTICIPATE

If high school is only six classes a day, five days a week, then it can hardly be "the best time of your life." The student should not immerse himself totally in academics. Rather, he should participate in the total experience of high school. There are athletic events to see, pranks to pull, people to meet, and causes to follow. These experiences are often as important as lessons that are learned in the classroom.

"No man is an island, entire of itself," writes John Donne. To be completely happy, to find one's purpose, he must interact with others; he must participate and in doing so, learn the meaning of service. As Albert Schweitzer once said, ". . . one thing I know: The only ones among you who will be really happy are those who have sought and found how to serve."

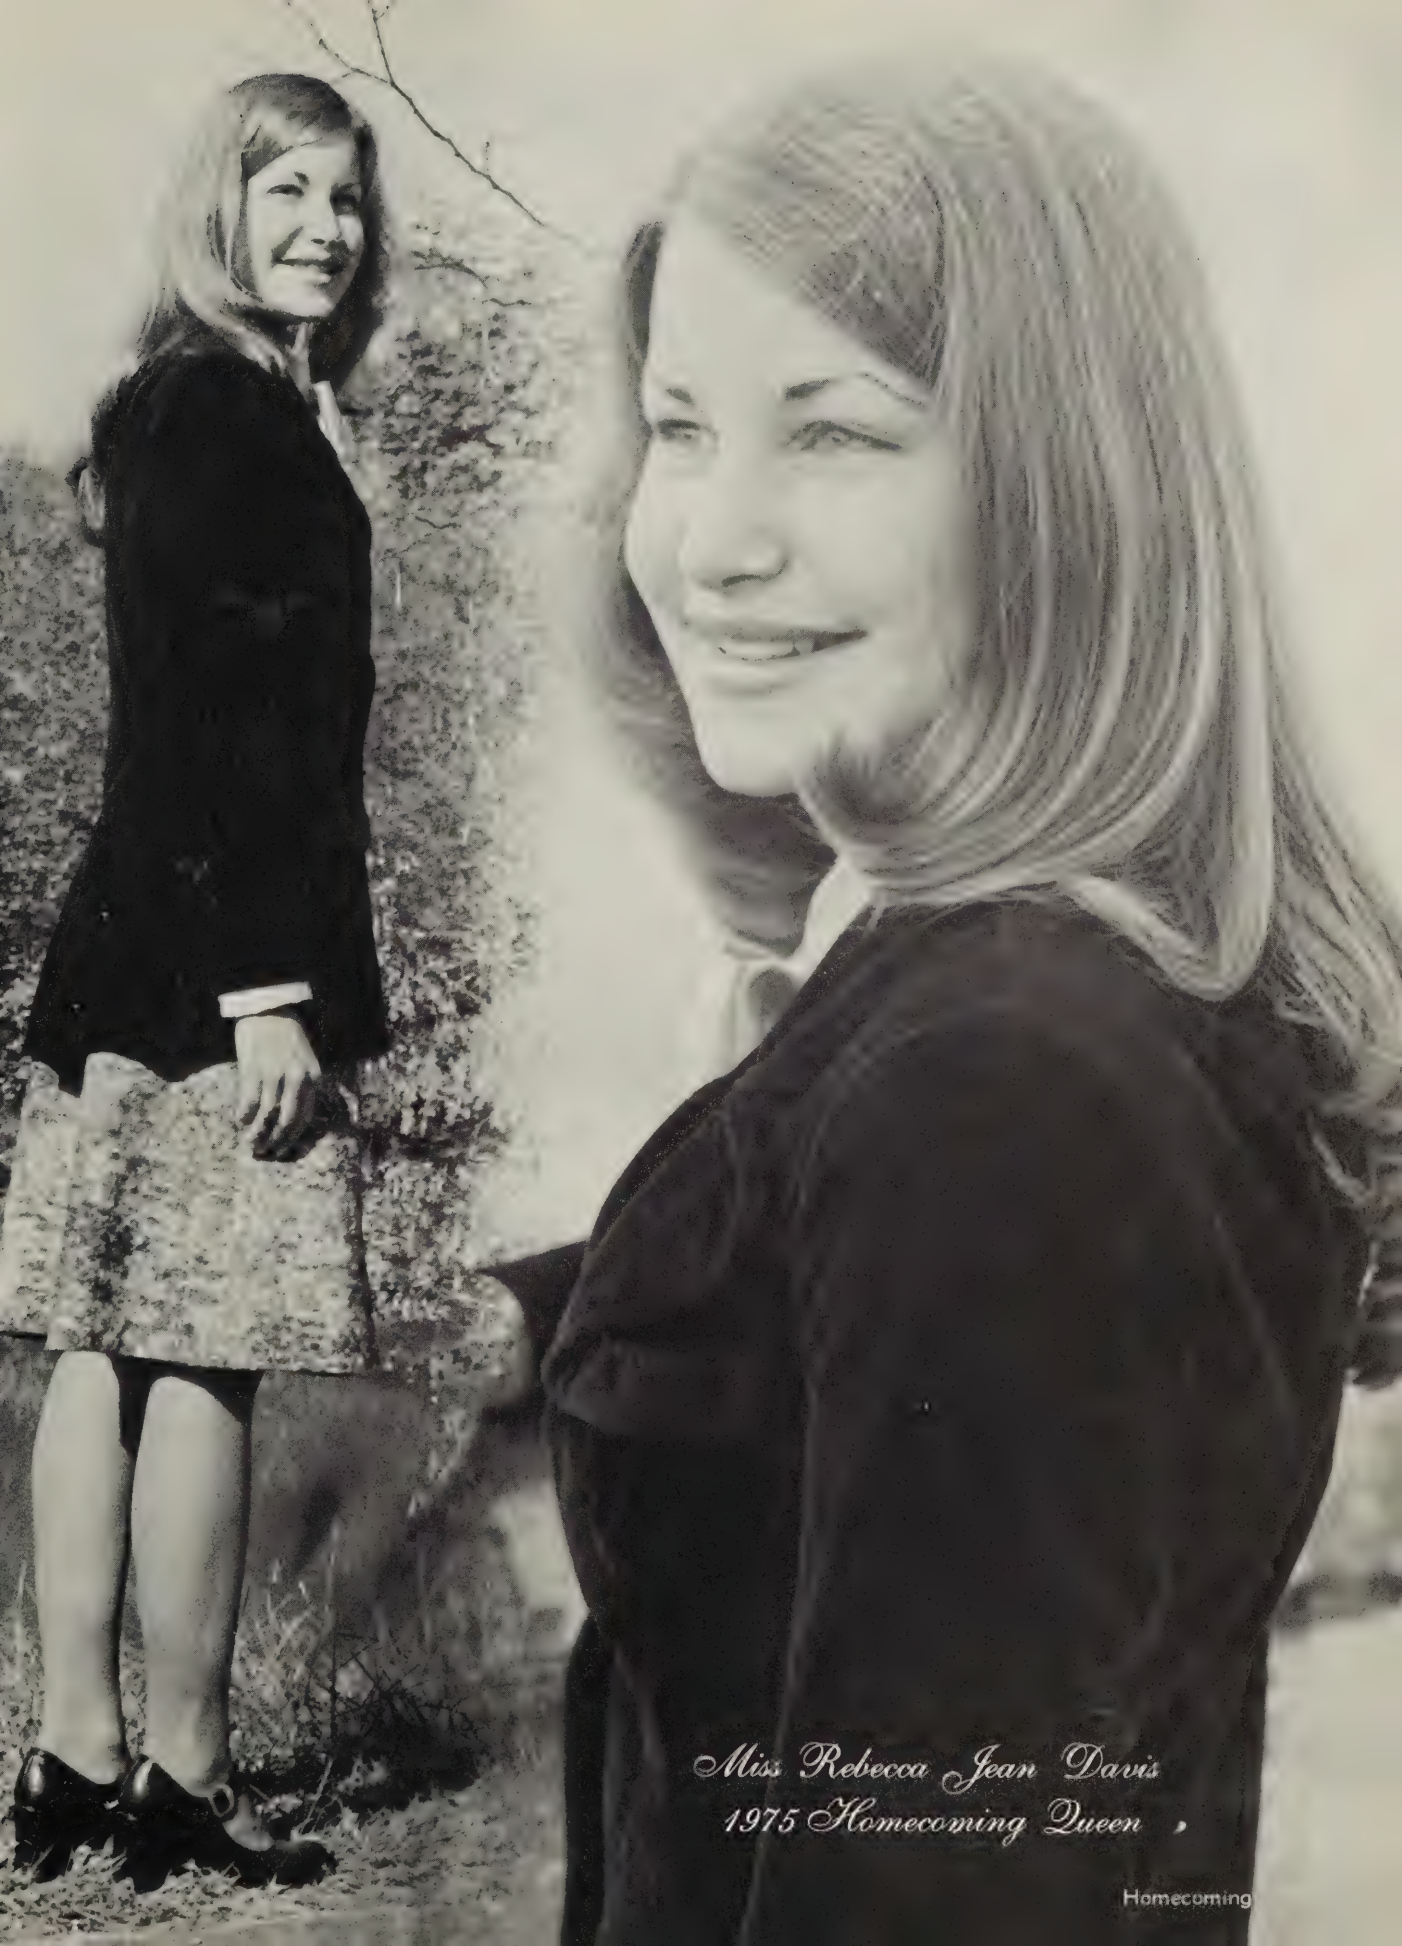

ACTIVITIES

Giles Spirit Strong For Homecoming Week

This year everyone had the opportunity to become involved in Homecoming Week. Different classes sponsored tie, hat, and sock days, along with a parody on pep rallies (lower and upper left). Each class decorated a float (lower center) and participated in hall competition (upper right).

The student body honored the football team during Friday afternoon's pep rally (lower center right and lower right), which ended the week's festivities. "This year Homecoming was different," one senior surmised. "I got involved."

The first sophomore to win the title since 1972, Terri Nanette Link was crowned Miss Giles High School on March 20. Kimberly Ann Knight (above) was named first runner-up. The second runner-up was Freddi Sue Lucas (right).

Twenty-four girls participated in the pageant, which is sponsored annually by the Key Club. The judges narrowed the field of contestants to fifteen, to ten, and then to five. From the five finalists the winners were chosen.

In commemoration of the bicentennial, the theme of the 1976 pageant was "Celebrate." For the winners the feelings of confusion, excitement, and nervousness, which usually prevade throughout a beauty pageant, were replaced by a feeling of celebration as the names of the new Miss Giles and her first and second runners-up were announced.

The prom is traditionally a formal dance held in the cafeteria. This year, however, the Junior-Senior Prom was at the Giles Country Club. The band, Zapper, was different from most bands because Zapper did more than just play music. The band divided those at the prom into two groups for shouting competition. Zapper also talked to the crowd during the band's breaks.

Since the prom was not held at the high school, those attending were not subject to school regulations. But while the students were given freedom, most of them handled it responsibly. Smoking was not forbidden at the prom, but the smoking was not excessive enough to be a nuisance and, for once, there was no smoke in the bathrooms.

A combination of hard work and thoughtful planning made this year's prom, "Oriental Gardens," a success. Attendance was high because the prom was at the Country Club, and also because a dinner, catered by the Village Inn, was served before the dancing began. As the Orient is crowded, so was "Oriental Gardens," though no one seemed to mind.

"Oriental Gardens"

Oriental Oracles

The mystery of the Orient
Shall ere enchant this night
As we gather with all our friends
To dance in pale moonlight.

The Oriental oracles
Tea house gardens, too
Take us to the Far-East
To rivers wide and blue.

As this evening closes and fades to yesterday
We'll have a fond remembrance of lands so far away.

ORGANIZATIONS

Working Together

"It was a special week in school," commented a student, "Everyone was involved in some way and you couldn't help but get the homecoming spirit!"

That was a typical reaction to homecoming week at Giles. The Students Cooperative Association along with Mr. Puckett put together a week full of activities for the crazy students at Giles High. They wanted to make Homecoming grand so they gave each class a day to make up something to get the spirit alive. With everyone ready to participate, it was a big success.

Another event that was on the calendar of Giles was the SCA Variety Show. Students and teachers performed as the audience watched with interest. A baton routine by Karen Dix and some bluegrass music played by Mr. Wilburn and Mr. Spain were the highlights of the show.

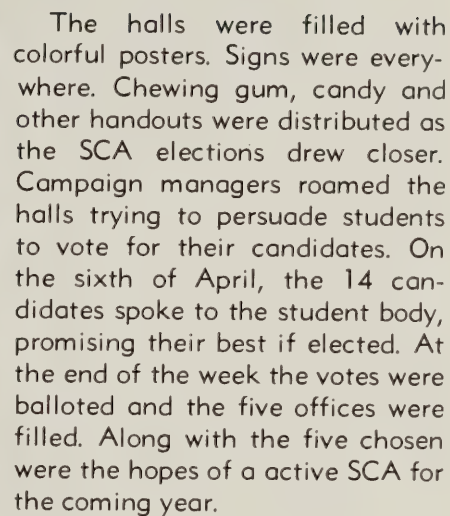

Some SCA members attended the SCA District Convention. The main topic was the apathy in high school students. Gary Vest was elected President and Robbie Henderson won the office of District Secretary. It will be at Giles next year.

'Being an SCA Representative wasn't the most exciting job I had this year, but it made me aware of the need for a strong student government.' That's how one representative described her role as a member of the Student Cooperative Association.

It is the responsibility of an SCA delegate to help strengthen communications between the students and administration. At SCA meetings, the representatives give their views along with the ideas of their classmates. Then they report to their homerooms the discussions and the planned activities of the SCA.

A student teacher tells of her adventures in Japan.

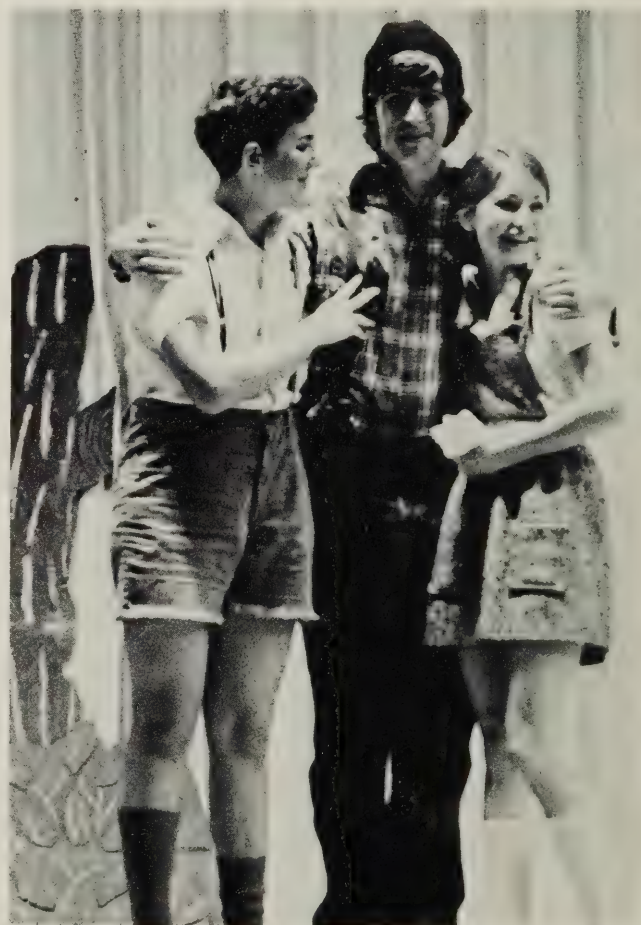

The excitement of Morocco . . . the tradition of Japan . . . the countryside of Brazil . . . through the eyes of their guest speakers members of the International Club traveled to these places and gained knowledge of countries far away. The third year German class staged a production of Hansel and Gretel for the club. It was entertaining as well as a cultural look at Germany.

At Christmastime, bells were ringing as the International Club rang in the holiday spirit. With 'Silver Bells' as their theme, they held the annual Snow Court Dance. The band, Roxy, played as the students danced with the merriment that this special season always brings.

The International Club also helped students from other countries understand the American way of life by arranging for three exchange students to visit Giles County for about a month.

At graduation, the International Club awarded scholarships to three Senior members, representing the French, German, and Spanish sections. Each scholarship was in the amount of $250.

The Snow Court Dance, one of the big events of the year, was enjoyed by all who attended. In the picture at middle left, Pam Williams, has just been named Jr. Princess as Jo Ann Davis joins in the applause for her. Couples found the dancing pleasurable and were grateful for an occasional rest.

Embarking On the Road To Learning

Klassroom Kwiz was the game of the year for National Honor Society members. Early in September, the club traveled to the Channel 7 Studio in Roanoke to appear on the TV quiz show. Several weeks later, following the annual tapping ceremony, new members were given a chance to play the game. They were asked questions about Giles, and its history.

Club programs included a wide range of topics — from county history to the 1976 General Assembly. Elizabeth Danahy served as Secretary of the area conference, and 5 other members attended the "round-up" at Bassett. At graduation, the club gave a scholarship to a senior member.

Monogram Club Holds Tournament

Athlete, letterman, jock, all refer to the members of the Monogram Club. Composed of the athletic branch at Giles High, the club related its interest in sport competition by holding a basketball tournament within the school. Boys and girls of their respected grades formed their home-room teams and competed against each other for trophies. This basketball contest of skill seemed to appeal to the students that watched the events with enthusiasm. The Senior girls overwhelmed an 8th grade team while two Junior teams contended for the boys' title.

The main purpose of the Monogram Club was to provide a discount on letterman jackets, which were purchased by students who had lettered in a sport.

To broaden their knowledge of different sports the club watched athletic films at their monthly meetings.

As their money making project the club sold Spartan toboggans to the school's fans.

Art is an individual sort of thing, in which students are expected to be creative and express themselves. The Art Club provided art students with an extra means of self-expression this year, as they decorated a hall bulletin board and an art show case. At meetings, the club members discussed various school projects. One project they decided to undertake was hosting the second annual Mr. GHS Pageant. Preparations were made, but due to a lack of interest from students and other organizations, the pageant was cancelled.

The club's main project for the year was awarding a scholarship to a deserving Senior. The recipient was required to be planning an art major in college.

With 70 projects entered in the Giles County Science Fair, the Science Club had a successful year in involving other students in science. At the Regional Science Fair held at Roanoke College, Sharon Perdue placed third in Invertebrate Zoology. This was the second year Sharon had placed at the Regional Science Fair.

Many speakers delivered interesting as well as entertaining talks at the club's monthly meetings. Dr. Condor from a nearby university talked on extra-terrestrial life. Mr. Collins, a local authority on archeology, shared his knowledge on the subject with the club. Dr. Von Damme (pictured top left) fascinated science members with a demonstration of glass blowing. The members were taught many new things as well as experimenting with science themselves.

The Literary Society of Giles created a Christmas treat for students when members sold carnations as a money-making project. The carnations were delivered at school the day before Christmas vacation and came with cards containing secret messages such as, "I've got the hots for you, baby."

Posters, candy, and Christmas postcards were all sold to raise money. Even with its small membership, the society worked hard and was able to promote its purpose. At the end of the year the club gave $70.00 to the Giles Association for Retarded Citizens. The remainder of the Literary Society profits was given to the G.H.S. English department.

"Narrows is a long distance from a victory!" — that's how the Sophomores described their feelings on one poster during hall competition. All the signs and posters in their hall section illustrated the theme, "Spartan Telephone Company." Other classes had their own themes pertaining to the basketball game with Narrows, and they spent hours putting up decorations to outdo each other. The Seniors won the hall competition during both football and basketball season, and the Eighth Grade Class was runner-up in basketball season.

Hall competition was just one of the many spirit-boosting ideas that the Pep Club used this year to create enthusiasm among the student body. They also painted pep signs every week, sponsored a pep bus to an away basketball game, and sold monogrammed Spartan sweaters.

At the Awards Assembly, the Pep Club presented the Senior Class with a plaque for being the "Most Spirited Class" during the 1975-'76 school year.

As a Christmas project, the Pep Club collected presents for a needy family. After all the packaging and wrapping had been done, the members rewarded themselves with a party!

Progress Through Business

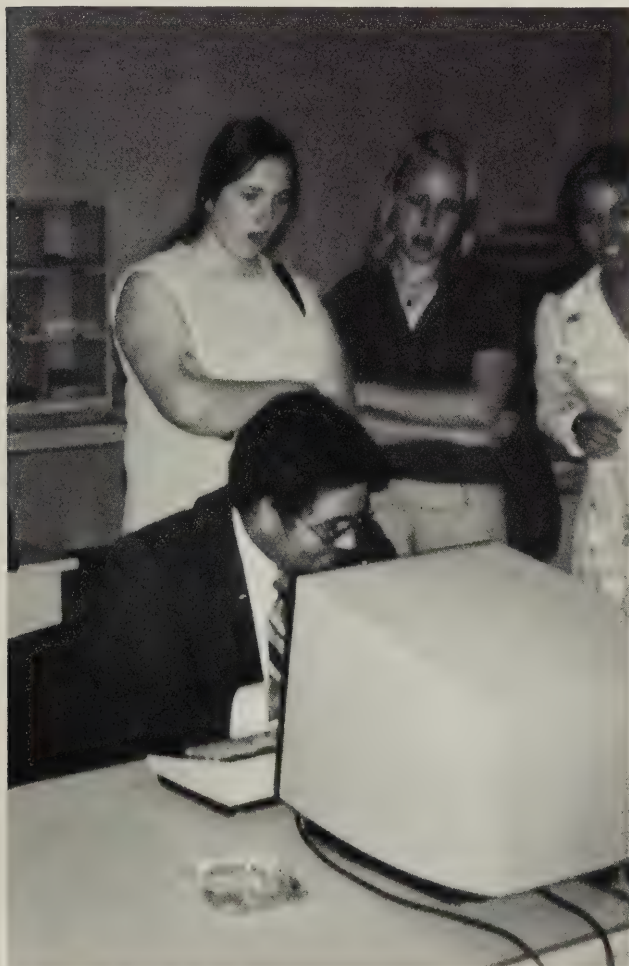

Business includes a variety of professions, and the Future Business Leaders at Giles incorporated many phases of the business field into this year's programs and activities. They attended fall workshops at Radford College, learning special techniques for bulletin board exhibits, accounting, and data processing. Jean Holt and Connie Sartin represented the club at a regional leadership conference in Gatlinburg, Tennessee. For most FBLA members, the highlights of the year were trips to National Business College and New River Community College. By touring the business departments at these colleges, they became better acquainted with the latest methods and equipment used in business training. One of the club's service projects was a contribution to the March of Dimes. Through its many activities, the FBLA promoted better business practices and continuing education.

How would you react if you were asked into the dark room to learn certain techniques? Some might feel insulted, others might comply gladly, but the members of the Photography Club would know that the certain techniques are the ways of developing and printing film. Through the year Photography Club members met after school to learn the special ways of making good pictures.

At the monthly meetings the members were taught the do's and don't's of taking good pictures. They were also able to build a camera out of ordinary materials at the last meeting.

Selling mugs was the big money making project for the club. The mugs were especially made for Giles High with the school emblem stamped on them. To some students it was a keepsake of the years at Giles.

Homemaking doesn't necessarily mean housework and chores. This year, the Future Homemakers of America centered their thoughts and activities on community involvement. To carry out their theme, the Giles High School Chapter made favors for residents of a nursing home, and invited guest speakers to their club meetings.

The Giles FHA Chapter was selected to receive an Outstanding Chapter Award, and indeed the year did prove to be eventful. Pam Fuller received the State Homemakers Degree, and thirteen other members earned the junior homemaker degree.

Another club project was the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet. Following the pot-luck dinner, the girls modeled the outfits they had made in Home Economics.

'Thank God I'm a country boy!' This is a mutual feeling between the members of the Future Farmers of America. Through the club, young men learned the value of good farming techniques. Annual contests were held in livestock and poultry judging, soil and forestry judging, agricultural mechanics judging and a tractor driving contest. In their Junior and Senior teams the club members competed with other clubs. They could also participate on the Degree or Public Speaking Team which involved learning parliamentary procedure and speaking in front of a crowd. As their money making project the club beautified the countryside by planting pine seedlings for their nature-minded customers.

Participation In Education

While working with the education field, SAE members were taught a great deal by visiting schools and listening to interesting speakers.

The Senior members of the club were given a special treat when they visited Pulaski High School for a day. The SAE observed the Kindergarten class and was entertained by the children. Kim Kight was given a good-bye kiss from one admirer. Not all the members were as lucky as Kim but each received a special joy watching the children play and learn.

Having had a successful year selling donuts, the Student's Action for Education was able to give a $125.00 scholarship to a graduating member of the club.

When asked what was the most enjoyable activity of the band, the members gave varied ideas for different reasons. The activity that came up the most was the Giles High band trip. This year the band went to Statesville, N.C. and competed in the Dogwood Festival over the Easter vacation. The band trip was a time when the members felt they must perform their best above all other performances, mostly because they were competing against other bands for awards. As Gary Vest explains it:

"When we have done our best and our hard work has paid off, it sets the pace for a fantastic trip!"

Another aspect of the band was their halftime entertainment at home football games. During the season the crowd's favorite number became "Rock Around the Clock". The majorettes sock-hopped a pom-pom routine as the band formed a clock with movable hands.

The band was one of the most spirited groups at football games and pep rallies. They joined in the chants, beat their drums and inspired the Giles crowd. They added enthusiasm as they supported their team wherever they went.

To get all the counts and moves together was a job that took a lot of hard work through the many practices in the summer and after school. They came through superbly when they performed at football games and in parades. Their smiling faces were a added attraction as the band played.

The Vocational Industrial Club of America is the only national organization for trade, industrial, technical and health occupations students. About ninety-five per cent of the Giles Vocational students belong to the VICA organization. This year, club members participated in regional and state contests during March and April. At the regional level, there were three first place winners, and at the state level, there were two third place winners. Other VICA activities included a dance, and a picnic at the "Boom" in Narrows. Mr. Coleman is the club sponsor.

Dewey Decimal?

How many people can understand the Dewey Decimal System? It takes awhile to be able to know it well enough to work in the library. Once students understand it they can help other people find books in any library. The Library Club members have learned the system through working in the Giles High library.

They have aided the librarians in replacing books in their proper place. The members have also worked behind the check out counter where they added their assistance to help students use the library.

The Library Club members used their creativity to design library bulletin boards. The boards made students aware of good books and brightened the library with colorful decor.

Chorale Tour —

Senior Chorale members try the old telephone booth stunt again.

"Loving a song, laughing a song, singing a song" — Symphonic Chorale members did all three, as part of their busy musical year. They sang a wide variety of tunes, including several patriotic numbers to salute America's Bicentennial. Along with the Band, they gave a special Bicentennial program during halftime at a football game.

In November, the Chorale participated in a high school Choral Festival at Concord College. There, they learned more singing techniques, and joined with other groups to present a concert. Chorale members also went Christmas caroling at University Mall in Blacksburg. They were given free transportation to the Mall, and a free dinner following their singing.

Spring tour was a reward for the year's hard work. Once again, the Chorale traveled to Jackson's Mill in West Virginia, and gave concerts to high school and camp audiences.

Medical Interest Broadens

Randy Clark, Sergeant-at-arms; Willis Riggs, President; Mr. Wilburn, Sponsor; Barry Link, Vice President; Anita White, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Medical Club spent its year exploring different phases of the medical profession, with the aid of guest speakers and films. Don Walker, a local pharmacist, was one of the speakers. He told about his experiences in school, and the responsibilities of his present job. Through activities like this, the club members gained insight into the fields of medicine.

Service To School And Community

Cindy Johnston was the first pie-eating contestant to finish off one pie!

It may seem hard to imagine 70 pies being consumed in less than twenty minutes, but when 28 hungry Giles students combined their efforts, the task was easy enough. The Pie Eating Contest was the Sr. Tri-Hi-Y's main money-making project for the year, but it was a difficult one to plan and carry out. Prior to the contest, the students who entered were allowed to pick what flavor of pie they wanted. Sr. Tri-Hi-Y members were kept busy during the contest by carrying refills of pie and water to each contestant.

After the nonsense was over, the club members became involved in many service projects. They helped to decorate for the county-wide Bicentennial dinner, assisted the Association for Retarded Citizens in their Saturday recreation programs, and sponsored a Bicentennial poster contest at King Johnston. The club sent delegates to the Model General Assembly in Richmond, where they became better acquainted with legislative procedures.

Ready Helpers

Pins were in demand at G.H.S. during the month of February. This was the month the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y had their annual heart fund drive and it seemed as if everyone was bursting red, heart-shaped balloons lettered with SUPPORT YOUR HEART DRIVE. Jr. Tri-Hi-Y members worked hard collecting for the heart fund. Besides school day efforts, they carried a donation sheet during halftime at a basketball game.

This is one of many service projects completed by the Jr. Tri-Hi-Y. At Christmas, the club donated food, clothes, and toys to make a needy family's holiday brighter. In March, members visited the Narrows Nursing Home.

The Hi-Y brought Hollywood to Giles by showing the student body two well known movies — "And Then There Were None," and John Wayne's "Chisum." Because the students responded so well to the movies, the Hi-Y's fund raising project was a big success.

The Hi-Y members washed teachers' boards every week — not as a punishment, but as a service project! They also donated books to the town and school libraries, and sponsored a family at Christmas and Easter.

At MGA, Giles had one of the largest delegations. To wind up an eventful first year, the Hi-Y received the Ace Award — the highest Hi-Y honor given during the school year!

Keyettes Show Concern For Others

Mrs. Anne Kane describes the work of the Nutrition Program in Giles County.

What started out as a nice quiet picnic ended up as a "hayday." The Keyette-Key Club picnic, held at the Bane home, was a fun-filled outing. The most exciting part of the evening was a hay ride through the Whitegate countryside, and afterwards, a "rope swing" in the hayloft. The Keyettes monopolized the swing, and made the Key Club guys do the pushing. Another favorite past-time at the picnic was pitching horseshoes.

Keyette Initiation in November included both a serious ceremony and a lively party. Old members pulled pranks on the new members, and made them each participate in one of the initiation games.

At regular club meetings, the Keyettes learned more about local service organizations through speakers. The club sold tickets for the Headstart "Hee-Haw" Show, and made a donation to the Giles Association for Retarded Citizens.

At Christmas, the Keyettes sponsored one needy family, and collected toys for another.

Work Is Mixed With Pleasure

"What is the difference between Niagara Falls and the Key Club?" This was one of the questions David Epperly was asked at Key Club convention, when he ran for the office of Division 3 Lieutenant-Governor. In reply to the question, David said, "One is going up, and the other is going down." His patience in answering questions paid off — he won the election.

The Key Club at Giles was certainly on the upswing this year. The clubs' membership increased substantially, and they engaged in many worthwhile activities. They donated money to buy a hearing aid for a grade school student, gave the school a new PA system for the auditorium, and once again sponsored the Miss GHS Beauty Pageant.

For entertainment and recreation, the Key Club members met to play basketball on Monday nights during the winter.

The delegates who attended convention in Baltimore, Maryland found still another form of entertainment. After one of the convention sessions, they attended a professional baseball game between the Baltimore Orioles and the Boston Red Sox.

Officers: Pat Mulheren, Secretary; Eric Keffer, Vice President; Clyde Woods, Treasurer; Gary Vest, President.

Lending A Helping Hand

Checking the role, grading papers, typing stencils, answering the phone, sweeping the gym, carrying lunches, mimeographing tests — the jobs of an assistant are endless.

A large number of Giles students served as assistants this year, in the office, guidance, library, history, math, science, P.E., and language departments. Besides working as teachers' secretaries, they also were errand runners.

Teachers who didn't have their own assistants, soon learned to "borrow" one when a special need arose.

Assistants proved to be an especially valuable asset when regular teachers were absent. By being familiar with the class members and the material they were studying, the assistants were able to relieve bewildered substitutes.

On days when the assistants weren't given specific jobs to do, their assistant period was simply a study hall to use as they wished.

Spartonian Reporters gather information for articles and write them also.

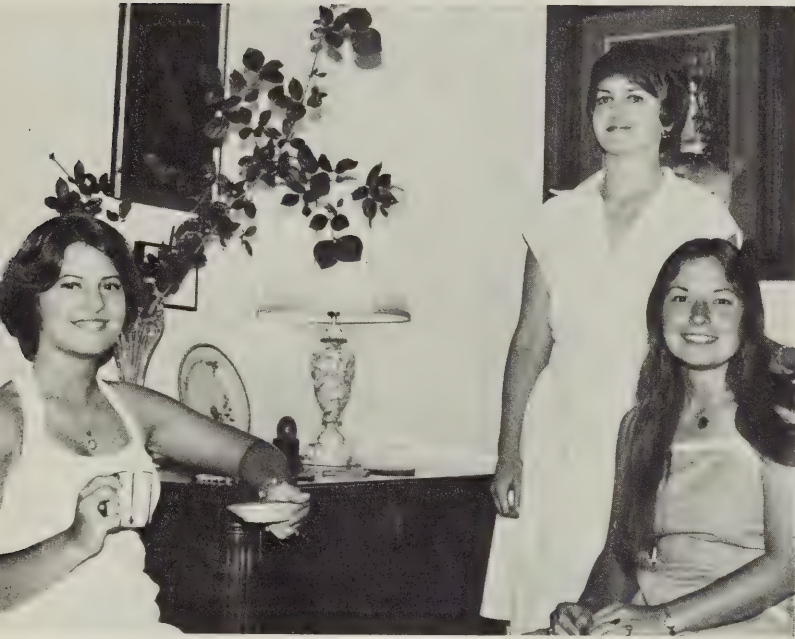

It takes hard work and creative thinking to put the school paper, the Spartonian, together. This year the Spartonian changed its format. Bold headlines and interesting pictures have made the Spartonian look more like a newspaper.

Compiling the Spartonian took a great deal of time. The staff worked at the local newspaper office two nights a week for a month, drawing layouts and setting type to create an informative paper. Their hard work paid off because they got to see their names in print and they were also able to participate in a new experience.

Organization was the key word for all of the yearbook editors, but it was still hectic on deadline days. Green and red pencils were tossed about as layouts were being completed. Editors struggled for the right headlines before turning in their pages. People ran in and out of the staff room, slammed their drawers, and screamed for pictures in an effort to finalize the yearbook.

At the end of the year, the Staff was able to look back, satisfied with their hard work. A feeling of gratitude accompanied them because each had contributed to the making of the yearbook. The yearbook symbolized a complete year at Giles High and it held memories for all of Giles' students.

The Salesmen Of Giles

Being a salesman isn't a very rewarding or easy job nowadays, because so many people are reluctant to buy. But there is always someone who gets stuck with the dirty work, and at Giles, it was the Annual Staff Representatives. During the hot summer and fall months, they worked diligently selling ads to local and area merchants.

When time came to sell annuals, the representatives again went to work. They visited first period classes for almost a month, until all orders had been placed. As a result of their efforts, yearbook sales were up this year!

Robbie Henderson makes the rounds to get yearbook orders.

Exchange Students Visit Giles

A yearbook staff member stuttered over her half-forgotten Spanish and asked, "¿Quieres esta escuela?"

"I don't like this school," replied Sandra Gonzalez. "I love it."

Valter Brunner, Sandra Gonzalez, and Roberta Kfour (pictured above) attended Giles this winter. They took classes here, but their education was not limited to the classroom. Valter learned to ski during his stay in the United States. Roberta learned to develop a taste for McDonald's famous hamburger, the Big Mac, and Sandra learned to appreciate the North Americans' sense of humor.

Valter, who is from Brazil, stayed with Robbie Coleman for the first part of his visit, and with Al Gutherie for the remainder of his stay. Roberta, also from Brazil, was the guest of Debbie Reed. Sandra, who came from Chile, stayed with Charlotte Robinson (left).

Many Giles students became friends with the exchange students. When they left in March, they were given parties by their friends to bid each of them farewell. Before Sandra left, a yearbook staff member asked her if she was happy to be returning home.

"No, not happy," she answered. "Very sad."

Variation Is The Look At Giles

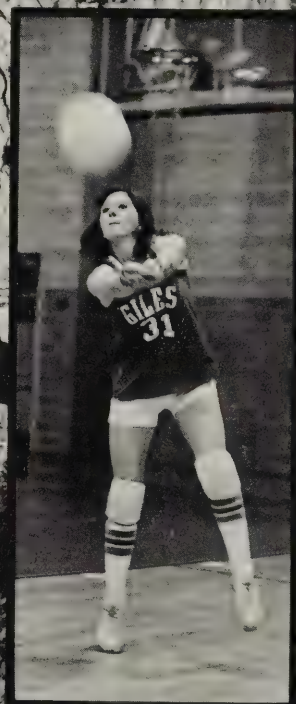

At Giles if one girl has short hair and a long dress while another girl wears her hair longer and her dresses shorter, both are fashionable. Boys' hairstyles also vary. Afros are not uncommon, and a few boys have beards, while some boys are still seen with shorter, more traditional, haircuts.

Generally, a teen-ager's clothes are chosen on the basis of comfort. Appearance, however, still plays a role in his selection of wardrobe. The teen-ager of 1976 is attracted by clothing that is often unique and sometimes even bizarre. Platform shoes, toe socks, and sequin shirts appeal to many students.

While denim is predominate at Giles, other fashions are present as well. Because a student can dress up one day and wear patched jeans and a flannel shirt the next, variation is the look at Giles.

The Giles Spartans began their ten game season on September 5 with Galax. They lost, but one week later the Spartans returned to the turf to defeat Floyd 7-6.

The Spartans were plagued with injuries during the 1975 season. Those in the stands could see that the Spartan bench usually had at least one or two players not dressed out because of injuries incurred in a previous game. Twelve of the 32 players were hurt during the season.

One highlight of the 1975 season occurred on September 19, when the Spartans defeated their traditional rival, the Narrows Green Wave, 16-14. Giles also triumphed during its last home game, defeating Peterstown 28-0. Giles played its last game of the season at Northfork, bringing the record to three wins and seven losses.

Spartan linemen perform

The lineman works as diligently as any other player. No touchdown could be scored without him; yet, he usually receives little or no recognition.

Bill Whittaker was a lineman of sorts. He often stood on the sidelines of the Giles football games, keeping statistics. He also called the final score in to the newspaper.

Bill served with the Pearisburg Department of Recreation. He umpired little league games on scorching summer afternoons. Bill organized and created interest in the nightly softball games, until they became a county attraction.

During the autumn of 1975, Bill died. On the Saturday after his death, the Giles score did not appear in the Roanoke Times. No one had called it in; Bill's place on the line was empty.

Coach Bayless has referred to the 1975 football season as a "tough year," citing frequent injuries as a menace to the Spartans. Spectator interest was better than ever, however, as attendance at football games grew.

Concerning next year, Bayless notes that there are "lots of leaders coming up" from the J.V. squad, which will give "good chances for next year's team." The competition for starting positions will be much keener; thus the 1976 season may reap the victories sown by the perseverance of the 1975 Spartan team.

While JV coaches Clark and Wilburn are both pleased with the 5-2-1 record compiled by this year's JV team, varsity coach Roy Bayless is perhaps the most excited by the talent exhibited by the upcoming varsity players. This year's junior varsity team did much to create enthusiasm for the Spartans. In the district only Galax and Christiansburg were able to defeat Giles, while neither Carroll County or Blacksburg were able to score against the Spartans.

According to Coach Jim Jackson, with more practice next year's team will be a strong contender in the New River district, as only one of the team's six top runners is graduating.

Of the nine players all had lettered at least one year. Pam Marshall was high scorer for the season with 216 points. Robin O'Farrell was second with 122.

J.V. Finds Rough Going

Under the direction of Coach Sandy Echols, the girls' J.V. basketball team completed its first year at Giles with a 1-16 record. The other teams' older players were a disadvantage to the Giles team, which was composed chiefly of eighth graders.

The name Steve Ragsdale used to bring memories of Giles' cross-county rival, Narrows. Ragsdale, who graduated from Narrows High School, was a member of the Green Wave basketball team. This year, however, he sat on the Giles bench.

The 1975-76 season was Ragsdale's first as coach of the Giles varsity basketball team. The Spartans ended the season with a 6-10 record and a bid to play in the New River District Tournament.

The Spartan's 16 game season began with Floyd and ended at Christiansburg. Giles upset Radford twice during the year, first 56-46 and later 64-58. The Spartans also scored victories both times they played Carroll County. Giles won first place during the Christmas Tournament. The Spartans defeated Oakvale 66-47 and then Narrows 55-49.

Three Spartan starters, Alan Bishop, Marco Jones, and Steve Martin, will graduate this spring. Two juniors, Billy Peters and high scorer Clyde Woods, will return to the court next year, as will Coach Ragsdale as he commences his second season with the Giles Spartans.

With a 6-2 record, the eighth grade basketball team displayed talent during its first year at Giles. Near the end of the season a few players were even promoted to junior varsity. Defeating Radford, which usually domineers the district, the eighth graders showed their potential strength for the years ahead.

First Year Is Successful

There are eight different sports at Giles and girls are allowed to participate in four of these sports. In fact, only girls are allowed to participate in volleyball, which is the most recent addition to the sports program at Giles.

Under the leadership of Coach Whitehead, the 1975-76 volleyball team made an impressive 4-2 record. The volleyball roster consists of three seniors, four juniors, five sophomores, and two freshmen. Of these players, eight received letters. With 53 points, Holly Mutter gained high scoring honors. Adonna Summers was second with 39 points.

Giles is Third in District

The 1976 Spartans generated interest in baseball at Giles. Enthusiasm for the team grew as the Spartans compiled an eight game winning streak. They scored a total of 187 runs in 21 games and had a team batting average of .315, with nine players hitting .300 or better.

The Spartan team, which was referred to by Coach Bob Wilburn as "an explosive, exciting ball club," finished the season with a 13-8 record. Giles achieved third place in the district, and they would have even gone to the regionals had they not lost to Floyd in a post season play-off game.

Fifteen of the nineteen Spartan players lettered, and only six lettermen are graduating this spring. With nine lettermen and the entire pitching staff returning next year, Coach Wilburn says he is optimistic about the 1977 season.

The Track Team found tough competition in the New River District this year. Although the 2-6 record isn't impressive, the team made a good showing in both the district and regional meets, coming in fourth in the district, and sixth in the regional. The two wins came from Narrows and Galax, the second in a duel meet with Galax and Radford.

Three team members qualified for the state meet. They were: senior, Marco Jones; junior, Roger Freeman; and sophomore, Miles Jackson.

Girls' Track Gains Momentum

The third season of girls track at Giles High School turned out a 4-7 record. Starting out strong, the girls defeated Narrows and Carroll County in their opening meet. They then fell prey to Floyd, Carroll County and twice to Blacksburg before winning another meet. Giles then placed third in a four-way meet with Christiansburg, Narrows and Galax, and, after losing to Radford, placed sixth in the district.

Three persons qualified for the regional meet. They were: Priscilla Parks, 100 and 200 yd. dash; Jeannie Dickerson, long jump; and Becky Karickhoff, high jump. Also two teams went to the regional meet. They were: 880 relay, consisting of Shirley Eaves, Connie Parks, Priscilla Parks and Adonna Summers. Mile relay: Leslee Mutter, Connie Sartin, Rosemary Scott and Pam Marshall.

With only seven out of twenty-two persons graduating, next year's team has the potential to become a district power.

Although winning only two matches this spring, the tennis team's hopes are high for improvement next year. Under the watchful eye of Coach Steve Ragsdale the team members gained experience and interest in the sport.

The season started out slow for the Giles racquet-men (losing the first two matches, 9-0 and 8-1) and peaked in the middle with Giles winning the next two out of three matches, 9-0. They then fell into slump as the season swung to a close.

The future, however, looks bright for the team, with only two out of the top six graduating, and many young and promising players coming on.

The Giles High School golf team, under the direction of Coach Clark, compiled a 4-5 record this season.

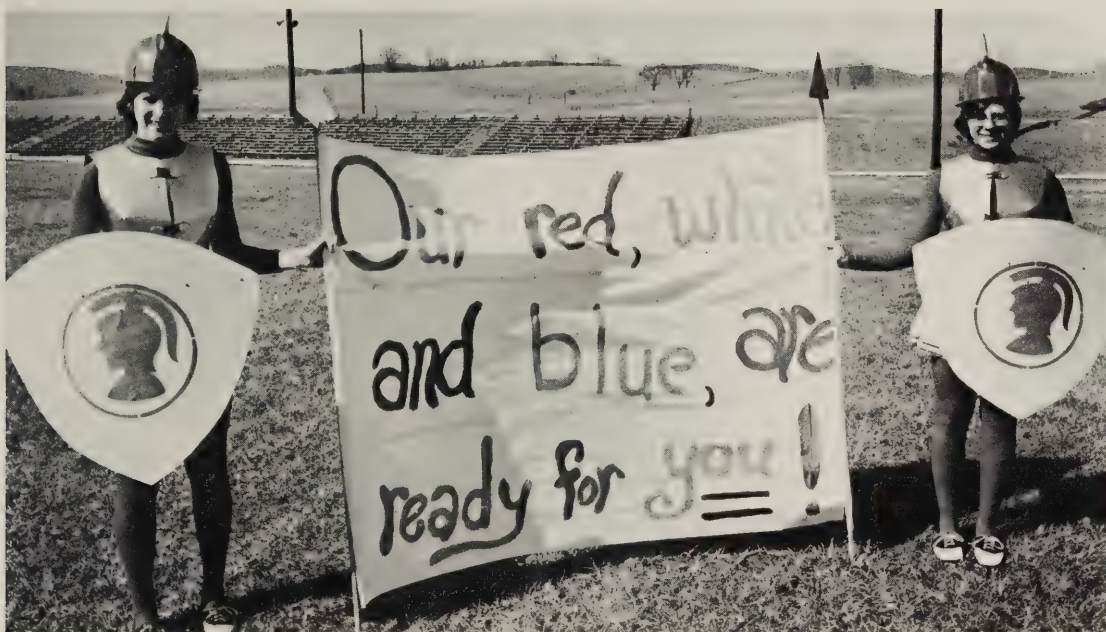

After winning their first bout with Peterstown 367-430 (the lowest score wins), the team defeated Christiansburg and Floyd by 55 and 29 points respectively. The Spartans then ran aground, losing their next four matches (Carroll County, Blacksburg, George Wythe and Galax).

Seeming to come alive, the team again downed Peterstown 314-387, only to drop their final match with Radford 339-312.

Even with a losing record, the team members are looking forward to next season. The enthusiasm stems partly from the fact that the team placed fourth in district play and sixth in the regionals. Another cause for optimism is that no one will be taken by graduation. This means that the returning players will include: Jimmy Brotherton (who had top stroke average of 81.1); Roger Lee (second to Brotherton with an 85.4 average) and Billy Peters, a junior who is a newcomer to the team, but who scored in the seventies twice during the season.

These statistics, and the desire that the players showed, should improve the record next season.

Spartan Mascots Show Pride In The School

Wouldn't you be afraid if you were alone on the football field and the whole football team was running toward you? Most people would be frightened, but for the Spartan mascots, the moment was filled with excitement and tension. As soon as the Big Blue broke through the Spartans' banner, another thrilling game was underway.

The Spartans assisted the cheerleaders at all football games with cheers and chants. Even in the dreariest weather, they added spark and enthusiasm to the games. The Spartans also demonstrated their spirit by painting pep signs for the hallways, and leading chants at pep rallies.

Did you ever wonder why there was a Champion spark plug in the trophy case? The spark plug wasn't some lost part of an automobile — to the Varsity Cheerleaders, the spark plug was an important souvenir of summer clinic. The Giles cheerleaders were chosen by the other cheerleading squads at clinic to receive the Spark Plug Award — a symbol of their spirit, sportsmanship, and friendliness.

After clinic was over, the cheerleaders began work on new routines and cheers for football season. They planned pep rallies, painted signs, and sponsored the homecoming dance. In spite of rain and cold, the cheerleaders showed their pep and enthusiasm at every game.

Basketball season was filled with excitement, and the cheerleaders gained even more crowd support than they had had at football games. "Rowdie" was the favorite chant for the season.

Cheering at Tech for the basketball tournaments was a new and thrilling experience for several squad members. The size of the coliseum was overwhelming, not to mention the large crowds that turned out to watch the games.

Sparks Of Spirit!

Remember — paint signs Monday, practice Wednesday, take buttons and pom pons to the game Friday . . . thus ends a typical week for a J.V. Cheerleader. But that typical week goes on for the football and basketball seasons. A lot of hard work is put into the practices and the reward comes on game night when the cheers of Spartan fans fill the air with an electric force which sends shivers down the spine. To be a part of such excitement is what cheering is all about.

The J.V. Cheerleaders worked especially hard this year selling Spartan buttons during football season and cokes during halftime at the Varsity basketball games. The money will go for new basketball uniforms.

One tradition enjoyed by the squad was the friendship circle. In a friendship circle cheerleaders talked about different cheers and the big games that would be coming up for each team, things in which both squads have interest.

A new experience for the J.V. squad was the Homecoming rally held at the track. Instead of the usual bonfire, they added their sparks of spirit with genuine enthusiasm. They also participated in parades where their smiling faces brought grins to the faces of others.

A Class History

The twelve-year span that leads one throughout school seemed like an eternity when the Class of 1976 entered the first grade. Now as we stand on the other side, we review our accomplishments, our failures, the good times, and the bad.

From four separate grade schools we merged into one eighth grade class in 1971. Fear and uncertainty filled us as we tried to find our way to class without getting lost. We became unified as we elected our class officers and constructed our first homecoming float, which with the theme "Let the Sun Shine," placed second in the competition. Our eighth grade football team gained admiration and respect when they finished the season with an unscored upon 6-0-1 record. The Class of 1976 was becoming a part of Giles High School.

As freshmen, we had our first experiences with foreign languages. Greeting of "Hola," "Guten Tag," or "Bonjour" filled the halls. Our school spirit excelled as we received the spirit stick four times during the year.

The close of the year took thirteen freshmen

Chorale members on their first tour and twenty freshmen band members to Myrtle Beach.

In our sophomore year, Biology and field trips and Driver's Education filled our agenda. Three members of our class participated on the school's first girls' basketball team. We realized that our high school career was more than half over.

Our junior year began with excitement as we won the spirit stick at the first pep rally. At homecoming our creativity was noted as our chariot "Charged to Victory." At the 1974 Snow Court Dance, Montez Vaught was crowned Queen. In April, Becky Davis was chosen Miss G.H.S.: Alan Bishop, the first Mr. G.H.S. Lisa Lucas won honorable mention in the Campus Poetry Contest and Scholastic Creative Writing Awards.

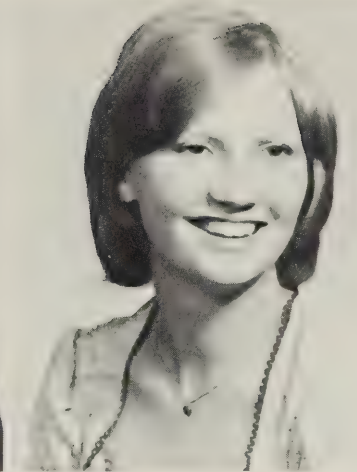

Becky Davis (1974) and Teresa Johnston (1975) were chosen to attend the Governor's School for the Gifted. Jean Holt, Donna Rogers, Steve Martin, Keith Niday, and Johnny Montgomery attended Girls' State and Boys' State, respectively.

Elizabeth Danahy and Becky Davis were designated as King Fellows. Our junior year was truly an outstanding one. The climax for the year came when, on May 3, 1975, we presented our prom, "An Old Fashioned Love Song."

Our long-awaited SENIOR year came with pride and excitement. We were seniors and were going to make sure everyone knew it. During homecoming week, we really showed the "Spirit of '76" as we wished the Spartans "A Star Spangled Victory" and displayed "Down Victory Lane." Becky Davis was crowned homecoming queen. October 24, 1975, was a sad, but meaningful, night as we played our last football game, cheered our last cheer, and popped our last batch of popcorn. For the first time, we realized that things were coming to an end.

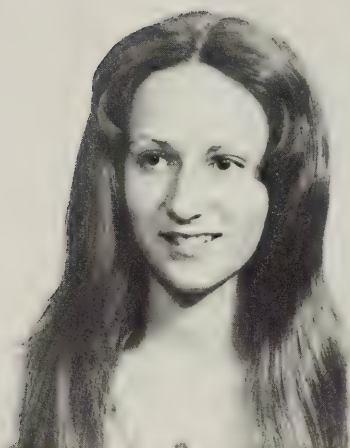

The year brought more awards to our class. Robbie Coleman received National Merit Commendation. Donna Rogers received the DAR Good Citizen Award. Lisa Lucas was a winner of a 1975

National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Award and was named 1975-76 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow. Cynthia Strader was chosen Key Club Sweetheart; Johnny Montgomery, Keyette "Man of the Year." In January, the Seniors displayed "Spartan Broadway" for our fourth consecutive first place in hall decorating competition. The ordering of announcements, being measured for caps and gowns, our trip to Barter, discussing college plans, and pages of other activities filled our last days at Giles High School. Our high school careers came to a close as we received our diplomas on June 8, 1976.

We now go our separate ways, promising to "keep in touch." We know that we may never again see the people that have become a part of our lives. Sadly we say "good-bye."

I Wish You Peace

I wish you peace when the cold winds blow,
Warmed by the fire's glow.

I wish you comfort in the lonely times,
Arms to hold you when you ache inside.

I wish you peace when things are going bad,
Kind words when times are sad.

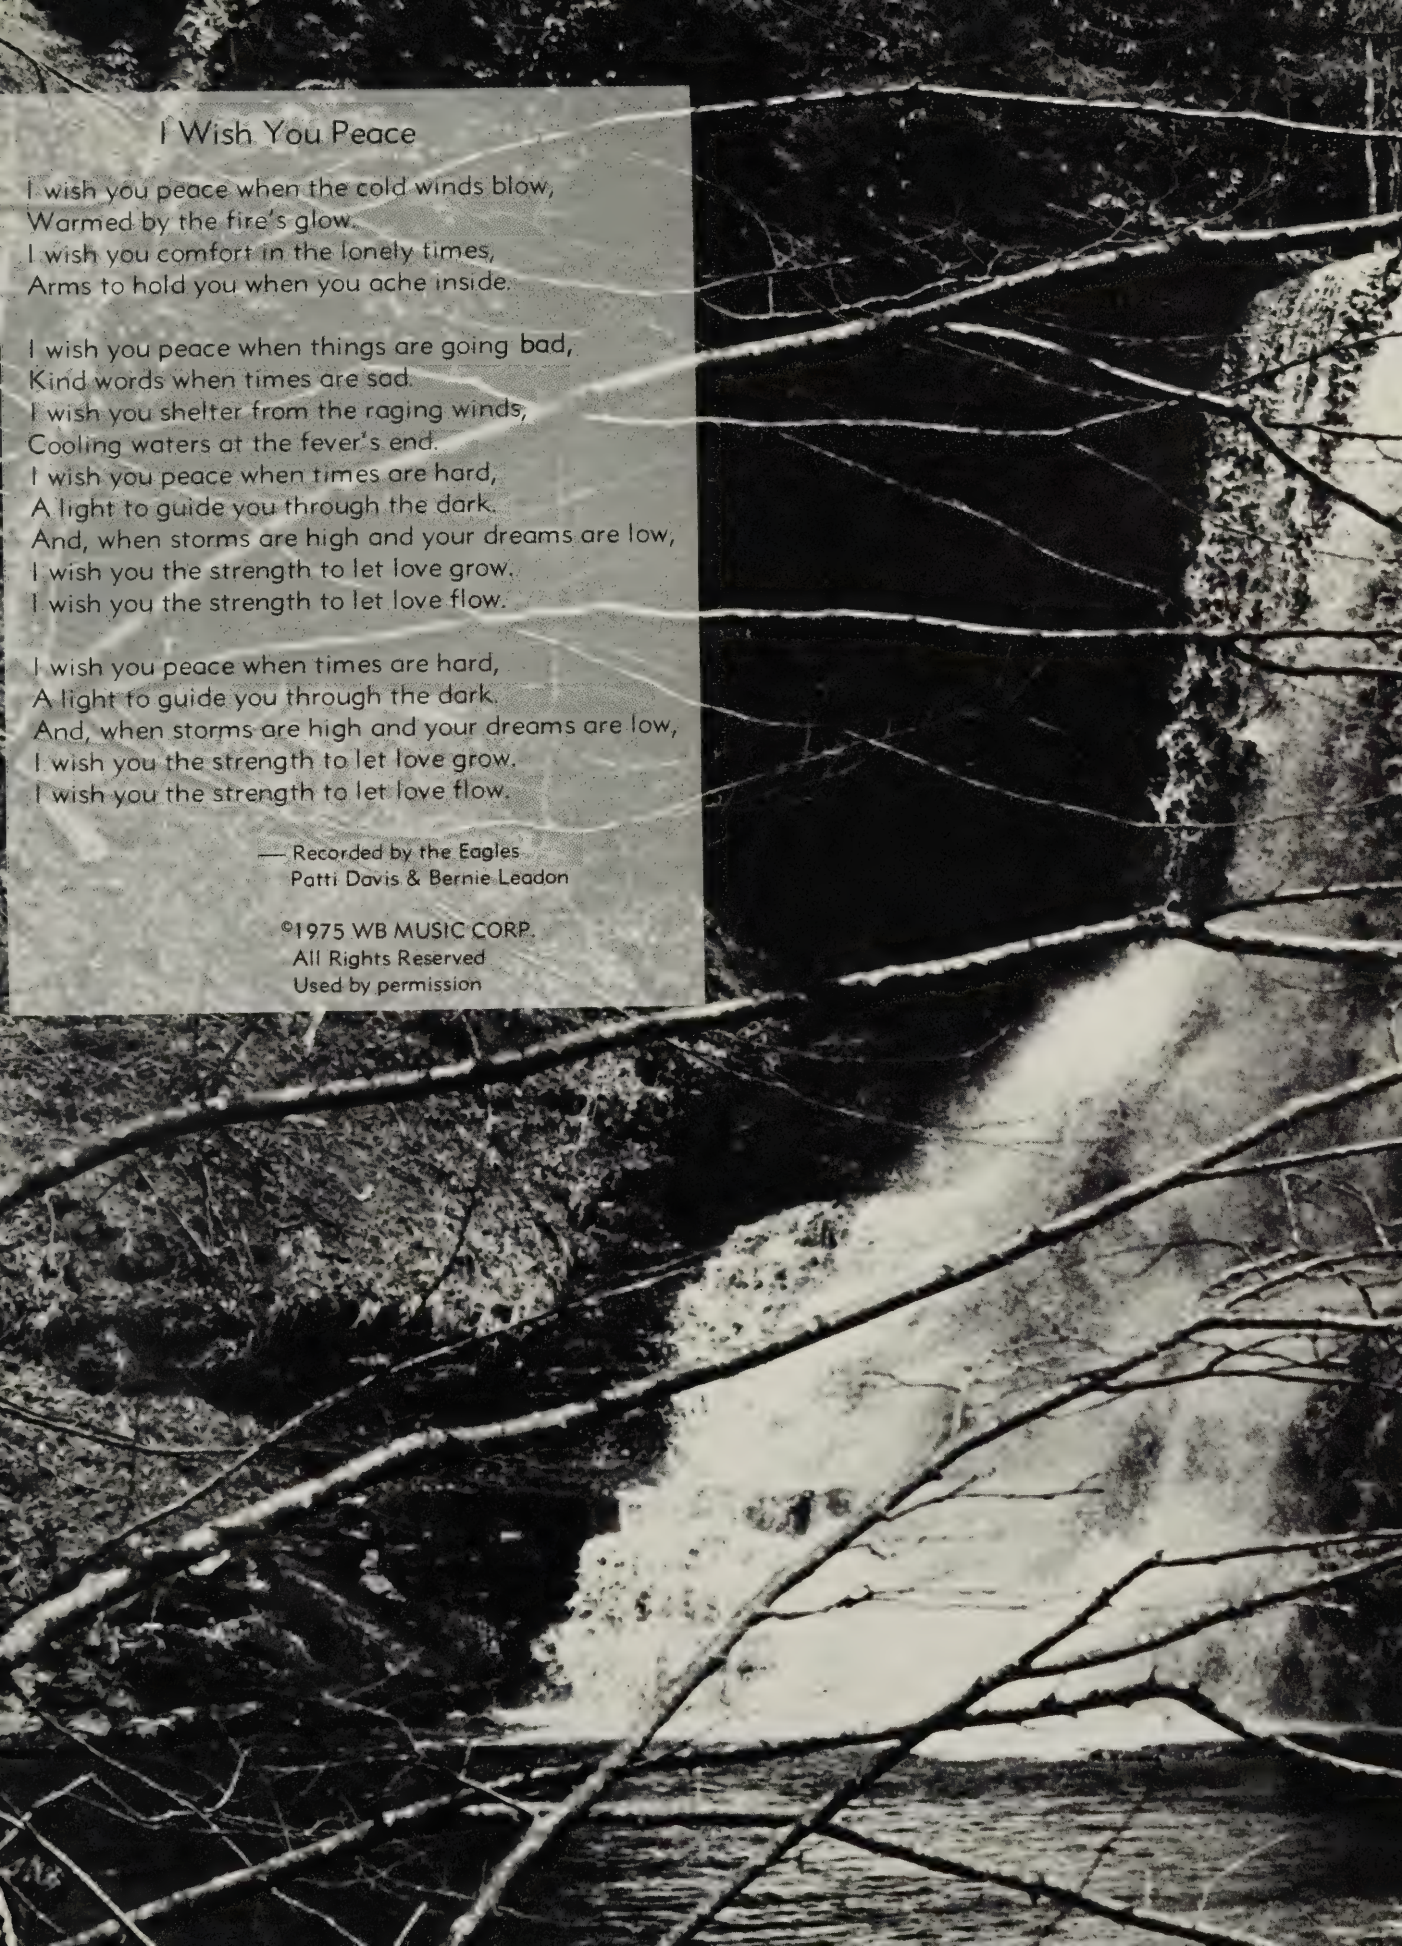

I wish you shelter from the raging winds,
Cooling waters at the fever's end.

I wish you peace when times are hard,
A light to guide you through the dark.
And, when storms are high and your dreams are low,
I wish you the strength to let love grow.
I wish you the strength to let love flow.

I wish you peace when times are hard,
A light to guide you through the dark.
And, when storms are high and your dreams are low,
I wish you the strength to let love grow.
I wish you the strength to let love flow.

Scholarships Aid in Higher Education

Graduation brought scholarships to several seniors. Various civic organizations and school clubs presented deserving students with cash awards. The recipients are, front row (l. to r.): Vicki Langford, G.E.A., German, S.A.E.; Martha Smith, Art; Patricia Roach, Vocational School Nursing; Becky Davis, Celco, Dr. J.J. Rodgin Scholarship Medal; Donna Rogers, D.A.R. Good Citizen Award, F.B.L.A.; Elizabeth Danahy, French. Back row: Linda Lindsey, Jr. Woman's Club; Willis Riggs, Giles Ruritan Clubs, National Honor Society; Steve Martin, Pearisburg Jaycees' Ken Webb Award; Mike Fletcher, Pearisburg Woman's Club — Margaret Mason Music; and Bobbi McCroskey, Medical Club and Spanish.

Randy Clark "gives the world to get out of school." The globe was the Seniors' gift to Giles at graduation.

Students Awarded for Achievements

The 1975-76 school year brought numerous scholastic awards and honors to Giles High Students. Rozzie Kane, Veronica Elliott, and Mary Harris were selected by their classmates to attend Girls' State. Gary Vest, Craig Woods, and Pat Mulheren attended Boys' State. Gary Vest will also attend the United States Pilgrimage. Lisa Johnston will attend the Governor's School for the Gifted at Mary Washington College; Mike Kelly, at Randolph Macon College. The 1976 King Fellow is Tamma Rolon. She will attend King College in Bristol.

Several students also received awards relating to science. In the biology division, Sharon Perdue and Liz Lafleur tied for first place in the local science fair. Sharon also won third place in the regional fair. She will also participate in the Berea College Wildlife Biology Program this summer. George Gillespie won first place in the physical science division at the local fair.

Awards for literary achievement were received by Mary Lou Reed and Lisa Lucas. Mary Lou Reed won the Shell Oil Bicentennial Minute Contest at Giles. Lisa Lucas received honorable mentions in the Campus Poetry Contest, Scholastic Creative Writing Awards, and the Hollins College Nancy Thorpe Poetry Contest, and was the recipient of the National Council of Teachers of English Award in Writing. Lisa also received the Family Leader of Tomorrow Award.

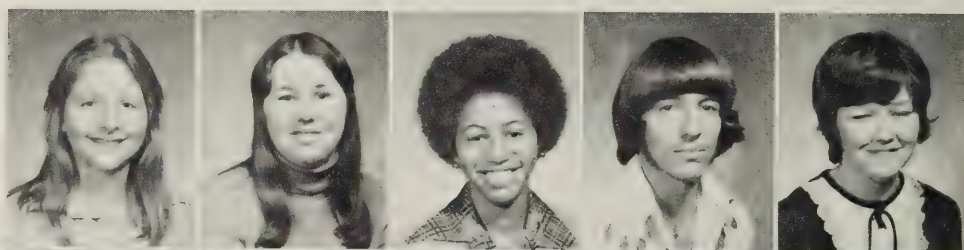

A team composed of Becky Davis, David Tice, and Robbie Coleman participated in a state-wide math rally held at Radford College. The team placed seventh in competition with 41 other teams. Robbie Coleman received an honorable mention for his outstanding math ability.

Students Choose Areas of Interest

The extracurricular activities of a school year are always mentioned and remembered, but often the more important part of a year, the classes, are excluded from mention. The pictures on these two pages are a mere representation of the many classes participated in by Giles students. The students in the above picture are in chemistry class. In the picture to the right, two students work on their English assignment, a term paper, in the library. On page 167 Mac Miller, a band member, participates in a pep rally (upper left). Roger Lee practices his typing (upper right), while Alvin Blankenship catches up on his accounting homework (lower left). In the lower right picture, Jill Bandy and Pam Blevins question their teacher about a math problem.

the Challenge

From the atom to the sun... the universe pulsates with energy in many forms.

The challenge is to find ways... new ways... to utilize the earth's vast storehouse of fuels in providing the energy needed for this nation to continue to be great.

The means — innovative technologies, exotic engineering, dynamic architecture — exciting advances that must come if man is to tap Nature's lode for the energies he needs.

From the smallest part of the universe to the largest... that's the scope of the energy field today. The opportunity for personal achievement is infinite; the challenge, one that must be met.

David,

I feel as though our friendship has grown greatly over the past few years. You have always been a special person to me & always will. I don't forget some of the great things we did. I'll never forget that hospital and the Chevy girls. I'm sorry I was so mean and now I regret it very much but it seems as though our friendship is patching itself back up, thank goodness! I hope your senior year is great and you have the best time of your life. I'll tell you another thing I'll never forget is when you came to the house & you couldn't eat popcorn or ~~we~~ drank pop and I kept trying to make you ~~im~~ sorry I'm so mean. Well I hope our friendship increased more and more because I really think that you would be a super great friend to always remember. I love you & I always will.

you are a super great guy. Stay that way!

Good Luck Always

Believe me - I will ALWAYS love you?

David,

I really don't know you as well as I would like too but this year it looks like we'll be together more. I'm glad I got annual staff with you and Lisa I think we're going to have a lot of fun once we start working. You a super athlete and I hope we have winning teams this year!
Make the best of your future and good luck always.

David,
 You are really a sweet guy. I'm glad we are friends. This year will be great, David.
 We're finally seniors and still in

David,

I'll start out by saying you are about the meanest person I know. I guess that's why I was so attracted to you and it lasted as long as it did. I usually get bored after about a week. Thanks for the good times and the bad. Everything I said to you I mean (I guess, I can't remember everything I said) and I want you to remember me and this past summer we spent together.

Good luck in everything you do and be good.

Ruvya,
Jeresa

David,
I guess we finally made it.
I just got one thing to say.
Remember all the good times.
How could I forget the Northfork game? David I'll always remember you and treasure our friendship.
Good luck and Bunches of love to one of the best guys I know.

Love Ya,
Merinda Jo

David,

Well, where do I begin? Good question huh? How about a memory ^(i-miscorig) or so? Like the time you and Albin got hurt in the same ballgame. I felt so sorry for you guys, in the hospital with nobody to talk to, so I decided to come over for a visit. I felt pretty dumb, I only saw about as people run in and out of your room, the 30 minutes I was there. But that was one of the less stupid things I've done. I don't want to remind you of any more. But I feel that our friendship has really grown since that little incident a year ago. And I hope you forgive for all those ^{other} stupid things that I have done to you. Good Luck at football this year, I'll be in the stands pulling for you. Just don't break your neck! Play good baseball this spring, I know you will. Keep up those great catches. David, you are without any question one of the bestest, greatest, neatest, coolest, cutest guy I know. (I sorry I had to down grade you so much) And I very honestly hope that we may get to be the very best of friends. Good Luck always in what ever you do, may it be football or life. Lotsa and Lotsa of love Always and forever.

Love,
Amy

Dearest David,

I don't know where to begin or what to say. I do know one thing, meeting you last year was one if not the biggest high points of my year. I couldn't begin to tell you what our friendship means to me. It seems like lately we've been through alot together. We seemed to work our way out of that without any bad side affects and I hope that's the way it will always be.

You're one of the dearest friends I have I hope your senior year is one you'll always remember.

David you're a super guy always keep your sense of humor and sweet smile.

Good luck in everything you do (or try). Let's face it I guess I'll just always love you no matter how many mean things you do to me!

Love ya,
Judi
